INTRODUCTION

About UPEC

Since its foundation in 1970, Université Paris-Est Créteil (UPEC) has established itself as both a locally grounded institution and a globally connected university.

A major multidisciplinary and vocational university, located less than 30 minutes from downtown Paris, UPEC serves a population of over 38 000 students and offers several programs taught in English.

Studying at UPEC

UPEC offers a wide range of programs in 5 main fields of study:

Literature & languages

Law, Economics & Management

Health

Humanities & Social Sciences

Science & Technology

♦ The organization of studies follows the European Higher Education Area (EHEA) three-cycle system, usually referred to as the «LMD» system in French, and is based on the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS).

♦ Training is provided at three levels: undergraduate (Licence), graduate (Master) and PhD studies (Doctorat).

♦ In addition to the regular study offer, there are several opportunities to study in English at UPEC, from single courses to entire programs. They enable students to pursue a degree with a strong international dimension while living in France.
